Batick

A corrected grain, pigment improved and grain embossed upholstery leather, which has had most of its natural marks removed. Paloma

A slightly corrected leather combining dyes and pigments, offering a softer and more natural appearance. While its thin protective lacquer simplifies cleaning, it's less durable than Batick. Natural variations and marks remain visible, contributing to its popular, comfortable, and authentic expression.

Velaro

A sophisticated, full-bodied leather with an elegant grain and natural appearance. While featuring a lightly embossed surface and protective topcoat for easier cleaning, it maintains its soft, luxurious feel. Step-by-step guide

How to easily shape your space

Shape your own personal space based on standard modules. Follow our step-by-step guide on the next pages to experience all the choices and find the best way to personalize your space.

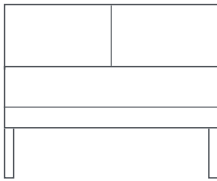

Ekornes® Frende Petite 2 x 2-seat with panels SP3, BP3, BP2, BP1 and SP1.

Step-by-step guide

1

Choose your setting

Frende Petite – perfect for dining spaces and table settings

Petite has a good seating height and a straight seat that provides excellent comfort for dining arrangements. It is also a good choice for waiting areas or office environments.

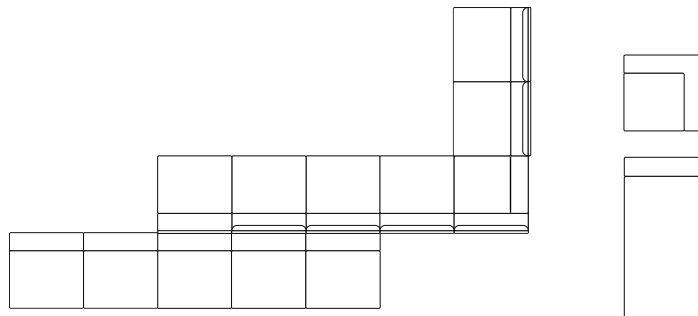

Frende Medio – designed for lounge areas

Medio is the lounge version of our modular sofa and has a slightly lower seat height than Petite. It is also deeper for optimal comfort.

2

Play around with modules

Available modules

The sofa modules can be used with or without armrests and with back panels of various heights, giving the system many exciting expressions. In both Medio and Petite, modules of 50 or 60 cm width can be combined to achieve a specific length.

Corner and longseat options

An Ekornes® Frende sofa can be built to an unlimited length, and longseats and corners can be added to create L-shaped or U-shaped sofa setups.

3

Personalize your sofa

Armrests and panels

Ekornes® Frende sofa modules can be customized with or without a variety of armrests to suit your space and style. The armrests are available in upholstered designs, ensuring seamless integration into your sofa's look, or as sleek box-style panels that add a modern and defined touch to the seating arrangement.

Back panels

Back panels in three various heights can be added to create various expressions. High and medium panels provide neck support and create a private zone. Low back panels can be used to create a frame around the seating area and help accentuate the line that follows the seating module at the base of the sofa.

4

Wrap it up!

Leathers, fabrics and legs

Like all Ekornes® products, the Frende sofa modules can be delivered in a vast variety of covers and colors. The seam along the bottom line is present on all seating modules in this sofa series, which makes for the possibility to add a different material or color.

Choose between straight cylinder legs or bow legs in finishes matte black metal or polished metal.
